EURO FACTS

Impress your friends with these Eurovision Facts

The Eurovision Song Contest (ESC) is an annual international music competition, first held in 1956, where participants represent their countries by performing original songs.

The ESC is one of the longest-running television shows in the world and is broadcast in over 40 countries.

The idea for the ESC came from the Italian Sanremo Music Festival, which started in 1951 and still runs today.

The first ESC was held in Lugano, Switzerland, on May 24, 1956, with seven countries participating.

The most successful country in the ESC is Ireland, having won the competition a record seven times.

The contest has a rule that all songs must be performed live, without any recorded vocals.

In 1974, ABBA won the ESC with their hit song "Waterloo," which launched their international career.

In 2016, Ukraine's Jamala won the ESC with a song about the 1944 deportation of Crimean Tatars by the Soviet Union.

In 1969, there was a four-way tie for first place, with France, Spain, the Netherlands, and the United Kingdom all scoring the same number of points.

The ESC has been the launchpad for many successful artists, including Celine Dion, Julio Iglesias, and Olivia Newton-John.

The ESC has had some unusual entries over the years, including a Finnish heavy metal band, a Latvian pirates-themed group, and a Russian grannies group.

The longest-running national selection process for the ESC is Sweden's Melodifestivalen, which has been running since 1959.

In 2019, the ESC was held in Tel Aviv, Israel, after Netta won the previous year's contest with her song "Toy."

The ESC has a massive fanbase, with millions of viewers tuning in each year to watch the spectacle, vote for their favourite songs, and join in the excitement.
